Who we are

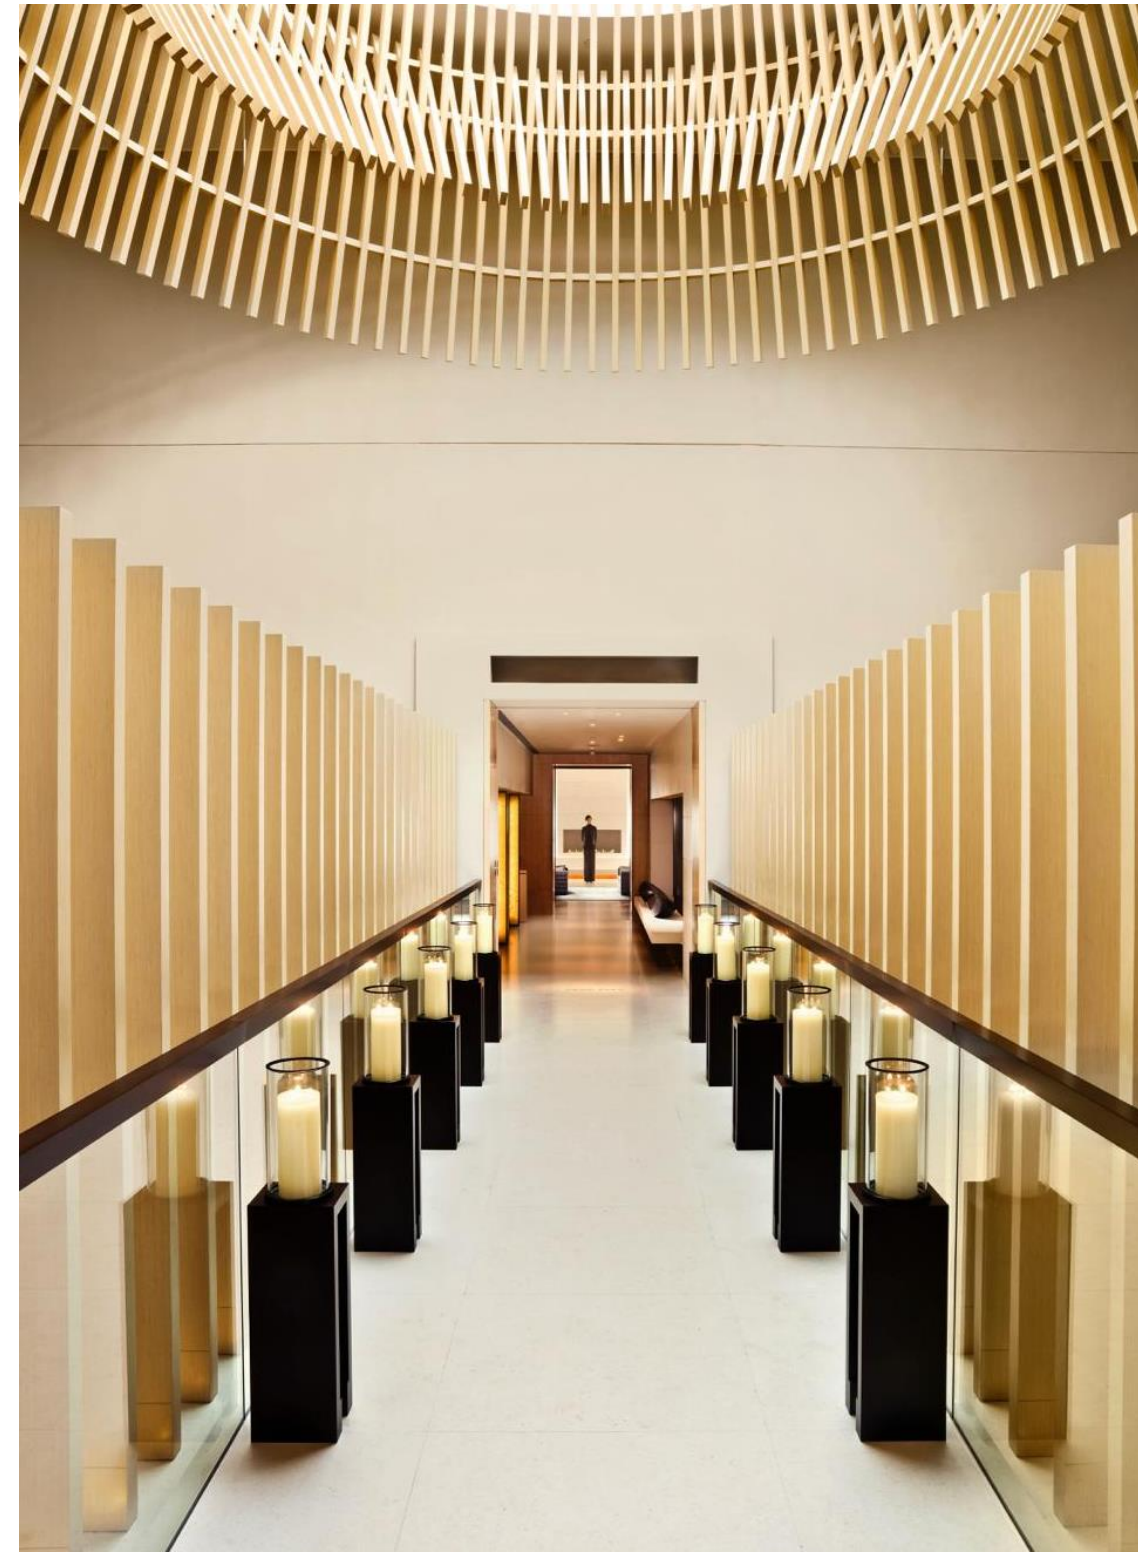

Where we are

Every House has its own story to tell

The Opposite House, Beijing celebrates the unconventional, its design imagined as an art gallery rather than a hotel.

The Upper House, Hong Kong is an intimate urban retreat with soaring views of the city's harbour and hills.

The Temple House, Chengdu is where contemporary design meets local heritage with its Qing dynasty courtyard.

The Middle House, Shanghai channels Shanghai's heritage of craftsmanship as well its fashion-forward dynamism.

A woman with long dark hair, wearing a dark blue sleeveless dress and a watch, is smiling as she pours red wine from a large glass decanter into a wine glass. She is standing behind a bar counter. In the background, a male bartender is visible, and shelves are stocked with various bottles of alcohol. The scene is warmly lit, with a soft glow from the bar area.
